this is incredible! I was weeks trying to come up with an app idea that would work. Found this Reddit post about trip planning and boom - built my app around it. Launched 3 months later to instant traction. "

Adeepa P.
Founder, Cliqora

"The G2 reviews are great! I spent hours reading what people hate about existing tools and just built the opposite. Simple as that. Hit $1000 MRR for my little side hustle in 3 months because I actually solved real problems, not made up ones. "

Abdullah A.
Founder, TimeShield

"BigIdeasDB showed me what developers were struggling with and distractions. That is what sparked the idea for TimeShield. Instead of guessing, I built TimeShield around real pain points now it's helping thousands stay focused."

Kamran H.
Founder, KeyWriter

"I gave up on my writing until I found specific problems in G2 reviews. People were frustrated with existing tools. I made $5.6K MRR and grew 10% monthly because I built around what was actually broken. "

Aaron T.
Founder, LaunchPets

"Pet owners complaining about the same stuff across like 20 different Reddit threads. The data was sitting right there! Just organized it all and solved their biggest problem. 5K+ active users in 6 months! "

Kumal P.
Founder, LensLog

"Coming from photography, I knew the problems but had no idea about market size. This tool showed me which issues actually had demand vs just me complaining lol Built around the highest-demand one and now I have a thriving photography business."

Description	Frequency ↕	Impact ↕	Subreddit	Created At
Users of social media marketing find themselves increasingly frustrated with the compliance and management of multiple accounts across differing platforms, leading to inefficiencies and potential inconsistencies in brand messaging. A software that integrates social media management with an analytics dashboard that provides actionable insights and allows for efficient group collaboration could ease these struggles, providing users with a seamless experience.	medium	medium	r/marketing	3/10/2025
Tensions exist in companies when marketing responsibilities expand disproportionately to job titles, causing discontent and productivity drops. A role definition and expectation management platform tailored to clarify job descriptions and responsibilities could alleviate these issues.	medium	medium	r/marketing	12/21/2024
There is a notable difficulty in creating and managing internal documentation and templates across marketing teams, leading to inconsistent brand messaging and operational inefficiencies.	medium	medium	r/marketing	12/20/2024
Many marketing professionals express confusion over the use of new technologies like GA4 for tracking workflows and data. There is a clear need for user-friendly guides or tools that simplify the analytics process, especially for those transitioning from older systems.	medium	medium	r/marketing	12/17/2024
Small agencies and solo marketers lack effective systems for managing client relationships and project deliverables. This leads to confusion and miscommunication. A client management and project tracking system that integrates with existing tools (like email, calendar, and reporting platforms) could streamline workflows and improve collaboration.	medium	medium	r/marketing	11/30/2024
Businesses face challenges in generating effective content for their marketing campaigns due to a lack of resources and creative direction. A content creation platform that includes templates, creative prompts, and automated editorial calendars could empower users to produce high-quality marketing materials more efficiently.	medium	medium	r/marketing	11/30/2024
Content creators and marketers struggle with the challenge of managing multiple platforms and project tasks without a centralized system, leading to disorganization and ineffective workflow.	high	medium	r/marketing	11/30/2024
